

Models below the dotted line emit a single label for >85% of committed responses; a fixed answer cannot produce a meaningful gap in either direction.